Early Warning Services

Dear Early Warning Hiring Team,

What excites me most is helping a business do what it didn't think it could. That's what draws me to the Senior Director, Chief of Staff role in the Office of the CTO (REQ2026951), and in particular your plan to take Zelle global, starting with India and the planned ZelleUSD stablecoin, work that depends on disciplined roadmaps and investment decisions.

At Ripple, I started with four project managers who couldn't keep up with customer demand. That team grew into a global organization, and the result I point to is that banks could go live on RippleNet in eight weeks instead of eight months, as the network grew past 200 members. I also set up the RippleNet Committee, a governance body I negotiated with C-suite executives of major banks, none of whom reported to me.

Today I lead Engineering Infrastructure & Internal Services at SingleStore as chief of staff to our CTO. I give people clear direction, build what the business needs, and change course when a better opportunity shows up. I'll retire a structure I built the day it stops paying for itself. When a strategic partner program was falling apart, I stepped in and led it to successful delivery, and it now brings in more than $30M in recurring ARR.

The pattern holds at other scales. At Wells Fargo I led a $20M program across multiple sites and vendors, and I delivered more than $2M in cost efficiencies at a multinational software company. I haven't owned regulatory controls or third-party risk, so I'd partner closely with your Risk leaders there.

I'd like to hear where you want to take Early Warning and talk about how I can help you get there faster.

Best,

Casey Caster
