Workiva

Dear Workiva Hiring Team,

What excites me most is helping a business do what it didn't think it could. That's what draws me to the Vice President, Enterprise PMO role (R12615) at Workiva, and in particular the chance to give Workiva's own portfolio, tech spend, and AI rollout the same traceability and governance Agent Studio brings to finance and audit teams.

At Ripple, I started with four project managers who couldn't keep up with customer demand. That team grew into a global organization, and the result I point to is that banks could go live on RippleNet in eight weeks instead of eight months, as the network grew past 200 members. Along the way we built programs and tools that met customer needs without continually adding headcount.

Today I lead Engineering Infrastructure & Internal Services at SingleStore with the same mindset. I give people clear direction, build what the business needs, and change course when a better opportunity shows up. I'll retire a structure I built the day it stops paying for itself. We cut internal cloud spend in half and built a COGS intelligence engine with Finance that aligns growth trends with investment decisions. I also negotiate with our vendors, down to LLM token pricing, and run internal GenAI adoption and governance, including Claude Code. I haven't run a formal TBM program, but tying technology spend to its returns is already how I work with Finance.

The pattern holds at other scales. I led a $20M program across multiple sites and vendors, and I delivered more than $2M in cost efficiencies at a multinational software company.

I'd like to hear where you want to take Workiva and talk about how I can help you get there faster.

Best,

Casey Caster
